and John S. Barbour promises to be a very bitter disc, said a Richmond. De more at to a Charto reporter yesterday.

"Mahone feels severely the loss of Federal patronage which he had at his disposal during the Arthur administration. Moreover, two of his righthand men have deserted him in ex-Governor Cameron and ex-Congressman Brady."

"Where will the Democrats make their principal struggle?"

"Richmond will be the key to the situation, and all the Democrate strength will be concentrated there. It is not likely that either side will have more than five votes in the majority on a John ballot of both Houses. The Democrats have control of the Senate and they think that if they can win over live litchmond delegates that Barbour will have a comparatively sire thing."

"What elements will be brought to bear against Mahone in order to accompiliatina!"

"Principally the labor element. There against Mahone in order to accomplish that?"

"Principally the labor element. There are eighteen thousand men employed in the masurfactories, and a good dead of tofusches will be exerted ever them. It was in a great measure due to this class that the Reform-Democrat ticket carried the municipal elections a year ago. Had it not been for the fact that Wise persuaded Mulin, the Reform candidate, to withdraw, this element would probably have carried the Congressional elections also."

"What is thought of Mahone's address!"

"It is generally regarded as a weak effort. About all he said was sulvoitelle of his own carreer. He accurses the Democrate of bad faith on the State debt question, but it would not surprise me much if he came out flatly for repudiation before the campaign is over. He would have a strong backing, too. It is wonderful how many voters there are who say that if the question is presented to them again they will vote for repudiation. The idea is that Virginta people have had this State debt business insend and rehashed until they are sick of it."

"Mahone reems, then, to be losing his

"Mahone seems, then, to be loaing his grip on the State ?" suggested the reporter.
"Well, the impression seems to be that he is; at least that is what they say in litchmond. In the back districts, I think, he is shout as strong as ever. Barbour is popular in Richmond. His position as chairman of the Democratic citate Committee Keeps him prominently before the people, and he is making a good many friends."

He was in the Police Court a few days ago charged with vagrancy, and during the hearing of the case admitted that he lived with a colored woman, Mary flatter or Paxton. Judge Snell reprimanded him for living with the woman and released him on his personal bonds. A warrant had also been issued for his arrest for threats which had not been served. Reguler lived in Cami alley, sometimes called B and a Half street.

THE CATHOLIC UNION.

A Number of Reports Adopted-A Strong Irish Feeling Shows.

The Irish Catholic Benevolent Union met in Carroll Hail at 9 o'clock this morning, with the Hon. M. Glennan in the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. Father Henry. The secretary called the roll of secteties for reports. There were quite a number of responses, and nearly all reports were adopted. Several amendments were made to the constitution.

Pending the return of the commit-the constitution.

Pending the return of the committee on resolutions with their reports, Mr. William Campbell, president of the C. T. A. U. of Philhdelphia, was invited to address the convention.

Mr. Campbell, in the course of his remarks, explained the system of voltag in the C. T. A. U., and advocated its adoption by the convention.

Mr. Daily, vice president of the same society, also made a short, witty address. Upon the return of the committee on resolutions, Rev. Father William Walsh read the resolutions, which were adopted.

The resolutions expressed sympathy for Ireland, appreciation of Parnell, Dillon, O'Brien, Sexton and O'Connor, denounced landlordism in Ireland and warmly indorsed the work of Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Gloman was then re-elected

Mr. Glennan was then re-elected president of the union.

He said that the accused was his uncle and also his step father, and that he knew that his mother was living with the defendant during the war. They were not married, but the union was logalized by the act of July 25, 1893. "Were you in the army, Dick," asked Mr. Carrington of the witness. "Yes, sir," was the answer: "If walked through the soldlers."

Affred Coleman testified that Mrs. Andierson was married to the defendant's brother, and he also remembered the latter's death. He knew that one child was born to them.

Henrietta Coleman, who charges that she is the secend wife of Auderson, testifies that she was married to the defendant in October last by the Rev. Randolph Peyton in this city.

This closed the testimony, and the case was sent to the grand jury; bonds, $500.

The Sad End of Mollis Boardman-A Case of Suicide.

This morning about 9 o'clock, as James Turbey and a companion were fishing in Little River, near the causeway, they found the body of a young woman, about 27 years old, floating near the shore. They at once notified the police, who, in turn, notified the Coroner, and that gentleman gave orders to bring the body to the George town station for identification. At the station it was found to answer the description of Miss Mollis Boardman of 1408 N street northwest, who has been missing since last Monday evening. Her friends were sent for and identified the body without trouble, sithough it was horribly dishgared. The Coroner viswed the remains and said it was evidently a case of onticide. Undertaker Gawler took charge of the body.

THE BARKER SYNDICATE.

The Particulars of the Concessions Granted by China.

THE MATTER ALL SETTLED.

Cognizance of It.

A Curric reporter was courteously received this morning by Count Mitkle wicz, who engineered the negotiations for the American syndicate with the Chinese Government. He stated in regard to the Chinese concessions that regard to the Chinese concessions that had been made to Mr. Wharton Barker of Philadelphia and himself, that they consisted principally of an exclusive privilege for fifty years of introducing the telephone into all the ports of that country now open, or which may be opened, that come under the provisions of any treaty. In regard to rathroad and nathing privileges, although no exclusive rights were granted, yet the concessions allowed the syndicate to become interested in them.

THE HANKING CONCESSIONS.

The privilege of establishing a large banking system has also been granted.

The privilege of establishing a large banking system has also been granted. The banks will be much on the same principal as the Bank of England. It will have the right to coin money and also to place any Government loan necessary to carry on railroad and mining operations.

THE PAPERS IN THE CASE.

The papers were signed by the Prim The papers were signed by the Prime Minister of China and other officials whose signatures were necessary. Duplicate copies of all the papers were then forwarded to the Chinese Minister at Washington. The latter's connection with the matter is stuply to compare the documents in his possession with those presented to him by Count Mitiatowicz and certify that they are identical.

Neither personal nor any other considerations will influence the Chinese Minister in his decision in the matter. It is simply a comparison of the papers, and nothing cise.

No official cognizance will be taken by the United States Government of the concessions. It is a commercial transaction merely, although so farreaching in its effects as to be in one sense political.

cersity will cost several millions. Hishop Keans of Richmond will be the teeter.

There is a prospect of a lawsuit growing out of the erection of the University building, if the statement is true that Mr. Baldwin is to be given charge of the work. Cluss & Schulze of this city were awarded the first prize of $500 for a plan of the proposed building.

Mr. Schulze stated to a Carrue reporter to day that the circular issued by the persons having charge of the new institution was to the effect that $500 was to be paid for the best plan, and 2‡ per cent of the cost of the building, the $500 to be deducted from the percentage. He said four times $500 would not pay for making the plans.

"I can hardly believe," said he, "that gentlemen who present to be upright men can act at this high handed manner. We don't believe as yet that hey can be so bat as to deprive us of our just dues. We are not relations of a bishop, though, and we believe that Mr. Baldwin is, But, then, we can't be a Jew to day and a Cathalle to morrow.
